Learning Objectives

Participants will:

1. Understand what Stepping Up is and how it can help reverse the cycle of those with mental illness being in the de facto hospital of a jail or prison.

2. Learn about tools and resources available through Stepping Up and its partners.

3. Learn what role you can play in reversing that cycle.
THE MISSION

Help criminal offenders with mental illnesses get connected to clinical treatment and other services so they can get well, make positive life changes, and stay out of jail.

“The increased involvement of people with mental illness and/or substance use disorders in the criminal justice system is a serious problem. By connecting individuals with clinical treatment and pre-release care coordination services, they are more likely to get well and make positive life changes.”

– Lori Criss, Director
Ohio Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services
BY THE NUMBERS

- 2M Number of people with serious mental illnesses admitted to U.S. jails each year.
- ~3/4 Incarcerated adults with serious mental illnesses have co-occurring substance use disorders, resulting in jails having become de facto inpatient psychiatric facilities across the nation.
- 30% Ohio incarcerated population that have been diagnosed with some form of mental illnesses.
Closure of state-run institutions for those with severe mental illnesses.

Discharged into the community, patients put a strain on the already underfunded and ill-equipped community services.

In Ohio, and across the nation, jails have become a revolving door for people with mental illnesses.
Stepping Up is a national effort to break the cycle of jail being the de facto mental health hospital.

Goal: Affect positive change through strong community and statewide partnerships, so that people with mental illnesses and co-occurring substance use disorders get connected with the help they need.
